Formula Student Symposium

Formula Student has always been an educational event with a motorsport theme. Hundreds of teams all around the world perform at their best in car development, project management and interdisciplinary fields that are essential to build a single seater formula racecar and successfully participate in an engineering design competition.

Even though the accomplishment and recognition of all their work is normally delivered during the competitions, a constant demand for new inputs and advices on racecar design from leading experts also exists. Considering this interest, the Audi Hungaria Faculty of Automotive Engineering at Széchenyi István University is organizing a unique symposium with highly recognized speakers from motorsport. The event will include keynote lectures, seminars, workshops and opportunities for face-to-face discussions.
